“ You don't know me, but I meet Jenny two weeks ago. It was a Sunday morning when a car, making lots of noise pulled up to my house. Needing to use my phone,her car had broken down. So I welcomed her in my home. She was a sweet lady. It brake my heart to here of this bad news. She was such a pretty person. So sorry for your loss. She will be missed.

“ We’ve been friends since the first time we met. We just clicked. I knew that if I needed you, all I had to do was pick up the phone and call you, and you would be there, you’d probably be late, but you would definitely be there. The world was a better place with you in it. I love you and promise to keep an eye on the kiddos for you!!!

I am so sorry to hear about this. I met Jennifer at the Social Security Office in Wise VA. She would always have a smile. Was a tough mom who was fighting for her family and children and talked about how she was working on her relationship with Christ and could not wait to come back to church service at Lost Creek Ministries. My deepest condolences going out to family and friends her precious children. I am deeply saddened by this. Praying that God will give you all strength and comfort in Jesus Mighty Name!!!!
