“ Rick was bigger than life. He was a huge inspiration to a lot of people he never gave up. He always kept his head high and he never let his disability get in his way of what he wanted to do and he was one hell of a body man and a paint man, one thing I will always remember and I learned a huge lesson. I opened the paint booth one time while Rick was spraying some paint, but this way that was the last time I ever opened the door to someone spraying paint, long story short Rick was amazing man. Love you Rick and will see u and the family when it's my time. Fly high my brother and watch over us as this world unfolds.
