“ There are no words I can offer to ease your pain. Sadly my family has been in this same situation and there are still no words I can offer. Please know that I am praying and asking God to give you both and your families peace and understanding. May the Lord bless you both and know that one day you will see that baby boy again very soon. But for now he is healed and resting peacefully in the arms of Jesus!!

“ Baby Preston I will always love you and I will always remember what time we shared. You are forever in my heart. You were one of God's tiny little miracles and made all of our lives better even though it was for just a short time. Now your mom and dad have their special angel to watch over them until we all get to be together again. Mawmaw loves you forever.
