“ R.D, as my older brother by nine years, I remember looking up to you, and you looking out for me and our younger brother Marc. I have many good memories of you: Riding in your green Volkswagen in 1969 when I was twelve to Myrtle Beach for a family vacation; your fondness for listening to Marvin Gaye and B.J. Thomas; in the early '70s, taking me to the movies at the Paramount Theater on the Tennessee side of State Street in Bristol. Oh, how you loved the movies.... Fishing with you in the rain on shores of South Holston Lake, and not catching a thing. Running your red Jeep on High Knob. Giving me advice like Foghorn Leghorn, but always with a big heart. I will miss you, R.D.
